NOTED FIGHTER ACROSS LINE

Escabosa Comes to American Side and Tells of His Troubles--Alleged Election Frauds

HEADED REVOLT AND MANY JOINED HIM

Escabosa, the alleged bandit, who gave all Sonora a lively chase for the last month or more, quietly slipped across the line yesterday at 11 o'clock to Douglas to get into communication with President Madero at Mexico City.

In an interview with an international reporter this morning, Escabosa talked freely about his fights and his position with the people of Sonora and the controversy with Vice Governor Gayou. Escabosa claimed the election was fraudulently conducted, and he led in the revolt. Escabosa is a talented civil engineer from the Arizona district, of very good appearance and highly educated.

Escabosa is stopping at the home of Bob Hubbard, who is an old friend of his and his family. He expects to remain in the city until he can get his troubles settled and has no intention to resume his fight, unless compelled to do so. Part of his men are in the city with him and the balance are hiding in the mountains near Agua Prieta, awaiting his instructions.

RATTLING

STORY

All rattlesnake records have been smashed to smithereens. Joseph Spencer, who lives at the sawmill on the White Mountain Indian reservation, recently killed a snake with 103 rattles, which was as big around as his leg above the knee. Spencer heard the snake rattling three-quarters of a mile away from his home and followed the noise until he discovered its source.

ARIZONA NEWS OF INTEREST

Newsy Notes From All Over Arizona Carefully Condensed for The Prospector Readers

The dyke of the Colorado river has broken on the Arizona side near Needles, and thousands of acres are flooded. Settlers are leaving their homes for miles around. The property damage will be heavy.

Tempe now has street lights, the juice being turned on for the first time Thursday night.

The greatest water system owned by any railroad in the world is that of the El Paso & Southwestern in the Nogal in New Mexico. With 92 miles of pipe line, some of it 16-inch, and a reservoir with a capacity of 450,000, 000 gallons, the system, costing nearly $2,000,000, has no rival on any other railroad line. The system was installed solely for the purpose of providing water for the locomotives of the El Paso & Southwestern railroad.
The alkali water in that part of New Mexico ate up the boilers so fast that the expense was terrific.

The total list of dead caused by the storm on the western coast of Sonora a week ago is fixed at eighteen. Many more are missing. Rosalia, a town of five thousand, has been five days without water, except the irregular and scant supplies sent from Guaymas, seventy-five miles across the gulf. "The Bolio," a property of the Santa Rosalia Copper company, was damaged $2,000,000.

Park Welling, who lived in Tucson several years and was connected with the Southern Pacific company, died recently at his home in Worthington, Ohio.

Five of the fifteen automobiles entered in the famous Los Angeles to Phoenix road race have already paid their starting fee, and made test runs over the proposed route. This is one of the big features of the Seventh Annual Arizona Fair which this year begins at Phoenix, November 7th.

L. C. Kennedy, formerly Wells Fargo Express messenger of Phoenix, and his bosom friend and companion, Fred Tretter, formerly Arizona Eastern ticket Agent of Phoenix, died recently within twenty-four hours of each other one in a sanitarium in Los Angeles, and the other in Sonora, Mexico.
Neither knew of the serious illness of the other.

The Tom Reed Mines of Mohave county declared another dividend last week on all the issued stock of the company, amounting to 3 per cent on the capitalization. The company has paid several hundred thousand dollars in dividends and has built up a big treasury for development and betterment purposes.

& Southwestern has already been thrown up, according to A. E. Deyo, who holds a sub-contract covering

Famous Commoner Coming to Arizona Next Month and May Take a Hand In the Campaign

WILL VISIT SON NOW AT ARIZONA UNIVERSITY

a number of speeches in Arizona during the first state campaign, according to advices received by Tucson Democrats. Mr. Bryan expects to spend Thanksgiving with his son, W. J. Bryan Jr., who is attending the university of Tucson, and will in all probability devote the time between Thanksgiving and the general election stumping Arizona for the Democratic ticket.

Tombstone's Postal Bank Makes Unique Record On Opening Day

Tombstone, the famous old mining town of Arizona, opened her Postal Savings bank yesterday with a good sized list of depositors, and Postmaster Francis Crable wore a most pleasant smile after he had balanced his books for the day and found that he had become the custodian of some four hundred dollars, distributed amongst 19 accounts.

For a town the size of Tombstone, this is a very remarkable showing, infact it is said to pass the showing made proportionately speaking, of any town in the entire territory.

The first depositor was Harry M.
Eckerman. Although yesterday was Friday, and the thirteenth day of the month, it did not appear to hinder anyone from depositing. The thirteenth list of depositors, and Postmaster Francis Crable wore a most pleasant smile after he had balanced his

books for the day and found that he
amongst 19 accounts.

The thirteenth depositor, he came up to the Savings Deposit window with thirteen silver dollars, each representing the original thirteenth state of the Union as indicated by the thirteen stripes in the little flag which Mr. Gardner wore on the lapel of his coat.

The Colorado Causes Much Dam- age and Reaches High Water Mark

The Colorado river reached the highest point on record at Needles Friday night, but is now receding.
A large volume of water is pouring through the gap in the dyke on the Arizona side, fifteen miles north of Needles. The extent of the damage on the land is not determined. All communication is cut off with the inundated region. The high water threatened the Santa Fe bridge over the river at Parker and a portion of the embankment washed away.

Col. Pickett's Speech at Tucson Was Talk From the Shoulder

The Tucson Citizen reporting Colonel Pickett's address at Tucson said:--

"My Platform consists of only four words, and it is this, 'Let the People Rule.'"

"To set forth his views fully, Colonel Pickett read aloud his printed declaration of principles, favoring the direct primary, the constitution as written and adopted by the people of Arizona, the initiative, referendum and recall, the elimination of the recall temporarily, and its reincorporation after statehood is achieved. In the recall of the judiciary he said he was unable to find anything vicious, believing the right would never be abused.

"Nationally," he said, "I shall never subscribe my vote to any man for president who is not what I termed a progressive Democrat.

"I am the people's candidate, and if elected I shall serve the people only.

"The primary election law is the one doctrine that is nearest my heart.
I am the first man in the territory to advocate the direct primary. I don't believe in the old method of electing senators. I would not accept the senatorship in any way but our present way.

"If I am chosen a candidate it will be the happiest day of my life; if defeated there will be no frown, nor any tears in my eyes. And I will support the two successful candidates to the best of my ability.

"I am the first man in Arizona that ever made a speech advocating the progressive feature of the constitution. I refer to that to show you that I am no new convert to the doctrine of the constitution."

Valuable information for consump-tives. Think health, not disease. stop experimenting, follow nature. look up, not down, above all realize "I will get well." Our little "Sunshine" booklet brightens the way.

Columbus, Ohio, brings it free of charge.
